

Style Partitioning at the British Motor Museum

After a £2m refurbishment programme, the British Motor Museum recently opened its striking new hospitality and event facility. Delivering flexibility to the suite, partitioning expert Style, was contracted to install two Dorma Hüppe Variflex semi-automatic, glazed moveable walls.

Allowing the area to be quickly adapted to meet the needs of the day, the toughened glass panels are manually manoeuvred along a whisper-quiet tracking system. Once in place, powerful seals automatically expand to exactly the required pressure to ensure optimum acoustic integrity between the divided areas.

The Motor Museum can maximise revenue from hosting a wide range of events, by either using the entire 360m² floor space for large gatherings or dividing it up into several, separate rooms for smaller events.
