

Major online retailer chooses a folding wall to quickly divide space

At the London offices of a major online retailer, there was a requirement to install a simple, yet effective, solution to give flexibility to an informal reception and presentation area.

Working with architect HLW International, and contractor ISG, Style was specified to install a Stylefold 65 folding wall with effortless sliding manual operation.

Giving staff the freedom to move the wall into position at a moment's notice, the Stylefold means the use of the room can be changed whenever needed, as it caters for a range of activities including client presentations, staff meetings and seminars.

Stylefold is an excellent choice when economical, practical and elegant room division is required. Offering a truly versatile solution, with options to suit every kind of interior design, it was primed onsite by Style on this occasion so that additional finishes could be added by the customer's joinery contractor, TMJ

As the easiest system to install within the Style product range, the Stylefold offers quick installation and is an economical and practical solution for a range of office needs, including social distancing.

"This is a great example of how a simple solution can also be a very stylish and effective one," said Julian Sargent, Style's group managing director.

"Our moveable wall solutions range from one's such as this through to very major operable walls with automatic operation and high end acoustic integrity, which demonstrates the breadth of our capabilities and product range."

Style is the UK's leading provider of partitioning wall solutions and is the exclusive UK partner to Dorma Huppe, Skyfold and SWG.

The moveable wall specialist also has a London showroom, where architects, contractors, interior designers and end-user clients can see a range of moveable walls in action.

It also offers nationwide servicing and repair of moveable walls via its 4 regional offices.
