Style's 300th UK Skyfold installed at Reckitt Benckiser

Reckitt's unrivalled range provides health, hygiene and nutrition for people in 200 countries around the world, and at its offices in Slough, Berkshire Style worked with architects, Tetris Design & Build and contractor, BW Interiors, to create flexible space throughout the building.

What made this installation particularly notable for Style was that it was the company's 300th installation of a Skyfold – the market leading, fully automatic, vertically rising, acoustic moveable wall.

Installing Skyfolds in both the main boardroom/meeting room and also in the lounge and shop/display area, the moveable walls offer incredible 59dB acoustic ratings and are housed, out of sight, in a ceiling cavity when not in use.

"When we introduced Skyfold into the UK market 15 years ago, it was a completely new, ground-breaking moveable wall solution," said Julian Sargent, Style's group managing director. "At the push of a button it descends gracefully from a ceiling cavity, and once in place it offers superb room separation with top end acoustic integrity."

"In the early days it took time to raise the profile of Skyfold with architects, contractors and potential end-user clients, however once the benefits of this operable wall became recognised the numbers of specifications grew rapidly, as it is a truly outstanding form of room separation."

At Reckitts, the Skyfolds enable staff to very quickly divide the rooms, and when not in use they take up no floor space whatsoever and are completely out of sight.

Finished in a stylish Kvadrat Steelcut Trio fabric, they also complement the interior design of the building creating a real showcase for anyone visiting the offices.

In addition to the Skyfolds, Style was also specified to install a Dorma Huppe Variflex Semi-Automatic moveable wall in a ground floor studio, also with a 59dB acoustic rating and in an Egger laminate finish.

Style is the UK market leader in moveable, partitioning and folding walls and the exclusive UK partner to Skyfold, Dorma Huppe and SWG. For more examples of Skyfold installations over the years, visit the case studies section of Style's Skyfold web page.
